LAND SHOW PROVED A GREAT SUCCESS

J. Edward Taylor Returns From Chicago Exhibition in Enthusiastic Frame of Mind.

State Horticultural Inspector J. Edward Typlor, accompanied by R. R. Holbrook, returned last night from the Chicago land show, where they have been in charge of the Utah Loota. Mr. Taylor, in speaking of the land show, said:

"The land show held at the auditorium was a success in every respect, and the attendance was fully up to expectations. During the 15 days of the show there were between 200,000 and 235,000 paid admissions, and the show was as alive and awake as the one a year ago. The class of people that attended the show was composed of some of the best and most up-to-date clitzens in the United States. The show was of great benefit to the state for two reasons in particular. The first is, there were people in Chicago who have investments of some kind in Utah, including irrigation and land projects, and they were pleased to see such a good showing as was made by the state. The second is, that Utah has got to look to the big cities for her market, and through the land show we reached a large part of the consuming public. During the 16 days that the show was in progress there was not a day when the spacious building was not filled to its capacity, despite the fact that the weather at times was very disagreeable. The largest crowd came on a day when show was coming down in a regular bilzzard.

"Utah day was celebrated by serving hot biscuits with Utah alfalfa honey. This proposition made a decided hit. The quality of our western honey is far above that of the east, and the consumers were quick to notice it, as thousands of inquiries were made as to where it could be obtained locally. In all, 700 dozen biscuits were served. After the show a special request was made by the mayor of Chicago and several prominent citizens for samples of the honey. Through the courtesy of D. E. Burley. Through the courtesy of D. E. Burley of the passenger department of the O. S. L. railway every facility was placed at our disposal which helped greatly to show the state's resources to the best possible advantage."

The Utah cxhibit was placed by Mr. Taylor and R. R. Ho Typlor, accompanied by R. R. Holbrook, returned last night from the Chicago land

SCHOOLS FOR INDIANS.

W. M. Peterson Completes Inspection In Deep Creek and Skull Valley.

In his report to the department of Indian affairs, W. M. Peterson, supervisor of Indian schools, with headquar-ters in Denver, who returned this morning from Deep Creek and Skull valley, will recommend the erection of an Indian school for the Skull valley Indians and the equipment of a school which is now being built in Deep Creek by the Indians themselves. On his tour of inspection, Mr. Peterson found that the Indians in both settlements had taken up land and were cultivating the land. Most of the families have built land. Most of the families have built houses and erected shelters for their cattle and horses.

The Indians of Deep Creek have begun constructive work on a schoolhouse. They will spend the winter months in the mountains getting the timber and expect to have it completed in the spring. It is being built of logs. Mr. Peterson hopes to be able to get the government to equip the school and furnish a teacher. The Skull yalley Infurnish a teacher. The Skull valley Indians have no timber to reach, and an effort will be made to have a stone

HELPS THEM TO DO BETTER.

Judge McMaster Does Not Permit Names of Wards to Circulate,

Judge Alexander McMaster's annual report of the work of the juvenile court a report coming from a court desig-nated by the National Association of Charities and Corrections as one of the best juvenile courts in the nation, was handed to the juvenile court commission Thursday evening.

The report is concise and complete and indicates the thoroughness with which the juyenile judge executed his work. It appears in full elsewhere in this issue of The News. Speaking of the work of various juvenile courts, Judge McMaster said yesterday, after handing in his report: "On many occasions I have had mag-azine writers come to me to ask per-mission to take pictures of my juvenile court wards. On all such occasions I refuse the request. I know it is the custom of many eminent juvenile judges to have their pictures taken with their boys and girls for publication, but I cannot believe it is right. These little people are only beginning their lives. Some of them, perhaps many of them, will some day attain prominence and the blight which would be placed upon their careers by the discovery that they were once wards of the juvenile court would be incalculable

"I appreciate the respect the news-papers of Salt Lake have shown my oplnions in the matter. I have ex-plained to them the detriment I feel would frequently result from the publi-cation of names in connection with ju-venile court matters and in all instances my opinions have been respected. On one instance when I believed the case one instance when I believed the case had gone beyond remedy, I gave the newspapers the story and following its publication, the boy was before me again on another complaint. He told me he had fully intended being good, but the newspapers told all about his troubles and now be did not intend to troubles and now he did not intend to

MOST PEGULIAR CASE OF BURGLARY

Elizabeth Ehler Says She Was Robbed Of Her Hotel at Point

Not frequently in the history of courts does a case of burglary come to their attention such as the one institheir attention such as the one insu-tuted Thursday by Elizabeth Ehler, in which she charges Dellan Donald-son of taking her hotel away from her at the point of a pistol. Mrs Ehler, who was conducting the Midland hotel at the corner of First South and Richards street, charges Mrs. Donald-son with entering the hotel, forcing her to deliver a lien and then, drawing a gun, forcing herself and tening a gun, forcing herself and tenants into the streets.

Mrs. Donaldson was accompanied into the hotel by a man, who purported to be an officer. By trickery, says Mrs. Ehler, Mrs. Donaldson procured possession of the lease, through her companion whom the proprietress supposed was an officer. The chambermaids were then covered with the gun in the hands of Mrs. Donaldson and forced to deliver the keys. After this, the tenants were driven into the streets, accompanied by Mrs. Ehler and the defendant in the suit filed took possession of the place. took possession of the place.

Mrs. Ehler alleges she has been damaged to the extent of $1,500 and asks that the judgment instude a rental of $20 a day until she regains possession through the process of law. Her explusion occurred on December CLAYTON OPPOSES MOTION. I. A. Yilley, counsel for Newell H. Clayton in the condemnation suit of the city against Clayton, opposed motion in the Third district court this morning, before Judge Morse, permitting the city to enter the land and continue the work of dredging, deepening and widening the surplus canal, pending distriction, the published the surplus canal, pending adjudication of the suit. Atty, Willey based his opposition on the ground that the city has never made Mr. Clayton an offer for the land.

The motion in question was proposed by Asst. City Atty. Daly. Counsel for the defense argued that even though the city had not accepted the offer made by Clayton to the city, agreeing to sell the land to the city for $1,500, it was in the nature of an offer which covers all requirements of the law. Judge Morse continued the case until this afternoon, desiring to hold further conference between the parties to the

The defense claims it can legally charge any license it sees

ANSWER IN BANK SUIT.

Answer has been filed in the Third listrict court in the suit of the Bank of American Fork against David Smith et al., by the several defendants. The letense includes five firms of sheep raisers from near American Fork, as follows: Jensen & Coddington; Chrystoll the court of the control of tal Brothers; Price Brothers; R. Jones & Sons; Coleman & Clotworthy. The dive concerns entered into an agree-ment, according to the answers, to contruct a bridge across the Green river. just below the mouth of the White river, to facilitate the handling of their flocks. The bridge saved a 30-mile drive to the nearest ferry to cross from one side to the other in moving the flocks from summer to winter grazing grounds. The bridge was built, blown down, and Jensen, one of the defendants, authorized to draw on the firms and equally upon his firm, to rebuild the structure. This was done and the bank, alleging the money was drawn in below the mouth of the White bank, alleging the money was drawn in the form of a loan, is now suing for
